Introduction

In the print industry environmental concerns tend to be low in the priority list if they feature at all. This is not true of Vinyl Impression.

Here we strive to be excellent in every way, and this includes our environmental impact. Here are some examples of what we are doing to minimise our damage to the environment.

Production methods

In all of our production processes environmental impact is something that is considered. This has affected our investment in equipment as well as who we choose as suppliers for our materials and packaging.

We have a compliment of HP Latex printers that are the backbone of our production process. These printers pose a significant environmental advantage over comparative printing techniques while maintaining an exceedingly high print quality at 1200dpi

Our printers take water-based HP latex inks which poses a host of advantages:

- No special ventilation is required as the inks contain no HAPs
- The inks are ECO Mark-Certified
- All prints finish odour free
- All cartridges are recycled using the HP Recycle scheme

Reducing landfill

We keep landfill to a minimum, thanks to our dynamic waste management supplier who are ISO 14001 accredited.

While we actively try to recycle all that we can, some general waste is inevitable, for this reason we changed waste suppliers to one that converts all of our end-of-life general waste into refuse derived fuel. This fuel goes back into powering the UK national grid and mainland Europe as an alternative to fossil fuels. As a result we put nothing into landfill.

Saving water

In an effort to reduce our waste water, we have invested in water saving technologies that reduce consumption and increase efficiency. This simultaneously cuts down our overheads allowing us to invest in other environmental initiatives. This will reduce our water usage by an estimated 60L a day. That is nearly 14,000L a year.

This document is a quick reference guide for graphics that we commonly produce for events.

This document contains the starting prices for each item pictured, however prices will vary with sizes and other requirements.

This document is not an exhaustive list of available products and we are always happy to create something new and unique for your event. If you have a branding need, we will endeavour to meet it.

We believe this is a good initial start for you to see costs and other basic information.
